Good Practice Guidelines:

Registering with OFSTED

The Children Act 1989 addresses voluntary activities with children under the age of 8. It may require the PCC to register an activity. This used to be through the local Social Services Department but is now through OFSTED.

Please use the flow chart on the next page to work out whether or not your activity has to be registered.

Registering activities with OFSTED

It is the activity itself that is registered and not the children. Therefore a parish which runs two 5 day holiday clubs a year involving under 8's will need to register the activity even if the children are different.
